Burial Rites*

Kent, Hannah

In northern Iceland, 1829, Agnes Magnúsdóttir is condemned to death for her part in the brutal murder of two men. Agnes is sent to wait on the farm of District Officer Jón Jónsson and his family, who are horrified and avoid Agnes. Only Tóti, the young assistant reverend appointed as Agnes' spiritual guardian, is compelled to try to understand her. As the summer months fall away to winter, Agnes' story begins to emerge. And as the days to her execution draw closer, the question burns: did she or didn't she? Based on a true story, 'Burial Rites' is a deeply moving novel about freedom and the ways we will risk everything for love. In beautiful, cut-glass prose, Hannah Kent portrays Iceland's formidable landscape, and asks: how can one woman endure when her life depends upon the stories told by others?

Taking a Chance*

Burrows, Deborah

This historical romance/crime is set in Perth during the Second World War. Nell is an Australian journo. Johnny is a captain with the American Press Corps.

Lena Mitrovic has been convicted of the murder of caddish artist Rick Henzell. Convinced of Lena's innocence, Johnny ropes Nell in to help him find the truth. During their investigation, they uncover a seedy and unsavoury side to wartime Perth. British, Australian and American servicemen are in the city looking to have a good time and many of the local girls are seeking excitement and romance. What they find is less wholesome.

Fly Away*

Hannah, Kristin

'Firefly Lane' became a touchstone novel in women's lives. Across the world, women embraced the story of Tully and Kate's enduring friendship. They laughed with Tully and cried with Kate and anguished over Tully's fractured relationship with her mother. Now, in 'Fly Away' - a story that both connects to 'Firefly Lane' and stands alone - Kristin Hannah returns to the world of these unforgettable characters...

'Fly Away' is the story of three women who have lost their way and need each other - plus a miracle - to transform their lives. An emotionally-complex, heartwrenching novel about love, family, motherhood, loss, and redemption, 'Fly Away' reminds us that where there is life, there is hope and where there is love, there is forgiveness.

Two Soldiers*

Roslund and Hellstrom

José Pereira heads the police's Organized Crime and Gang Section in Råby, a southern suburb of Stockholm. Here, juvenile gang crime is a rapidly growing and all-too-real problem.

Blood brothers Leon and Gabriel have spent their young lives establishing a formidable criminal enterprise - known as the Råby Warriors - which is now poised to secure domination in the area.

DCI Ewert Grens is investigating a recent prison break from a maximum-security facility: an incident that is linked to the Råby Warriors - a group Grens knows more about than he first admits. All four men are on a collision course: heading toward an explosive convergence, and a revelation powerful enough to tear each of them apart.

Southern Cross The Dog*

Cheng, Bill

As the Great Flood of 1927 bursts the levees of Mississippi and sweeps away rural homes, 8-year-old Robert Chatham is separated from his parents and his friends, Dora and GD. He is entirely alone.

Robert's adventures through the brooding swamplands, from the infamous brothel at the Hotel Beau-Miel to imprisonment by hunters, are full of danger, endurance and courage. And as the days roll into years, this small lost boy becomes a young, tough man. At the edge of his vision, following him everywhere, is the black dog of melancholy. But there is love, too, and brutal beauty - and, at last, at the tender age of twenty, a kind of homecoming.

Stranger in My Street, A*

Burrows, Deborah

"Murder, mystery and romance weave a web of intrigue through the tensions and prejudices of wartime Australia. A rewarding read, I loved it." Liz Byrski

It's January 1943. Australia is at war and Perth is buzzing. US troops have money, accents like movie stars, tailored uniforms and good manners. It's the 'American occupation' and many Perth women are having the time of their lives. Not Meg Eaton, however. The war has brought her nothing but heartbreak. Until, in the middle of a Perth heat-wave, she meets her dead lover's brother and discovers a body in her neighbour's back yard - murdered - and her life changes forever.

Twelfth Department, The

Ryan, William

Moscow, 1937. Captain Korolev, a police investigator, is enjoying a long-overdue visit from his young son Yuri when an eminent scientist is shot dead within sight of the Kremlin and Korolev is ordered to find the killer.

It soon emerges that the victim, a man who it appears would stop at nothing to fulfil his ambitions, was engaged in research of great interest to those at the very top ranks of Soviet power. When another scientist is brutally murdered, and evidence of the professors' dark experiments is hastily removed, Korolev begins to realise that, along with having a difficult case to solve, he's caught in a dangerous battle between two warring factions of the NKVD. And then his son Yuri goes missing...

Meeting the English

Clanchy, Kate

In 1989, the year of news, as London bakes through the hottest summer anyone can remember, one family is embroiled in its own private cataclysm.

Phillip Prys has been silenced by a sudden, massive stroke. As his girlish third wife, Shirin, pads through their faded rooms, dignified in the face of bustling Myfanwy, back to manage her former husband's care, their adolescent children, Jake and Celia, seek refuge in drugs and food.

Enter Struan. Built like a heron, fresh from Scotland, he is thrust - quite literally - into the bosom of the family, as Phillip's seventeen-year-old nurse. He's had experience of death, but not of London. Hampstead is a foreign country, with foreign food and foreign customs.

Signs and Wonders

Ohlin, Alix

'Signs and Wonders' documents a couple's divorce after twenty-six years of marriage; in 'Robbing the Cradle', a teacher desperate to conceive resorts to the most extreme measures imaginable; and 'The Stepmother's Story' sees a young woman experience every parent's worst nightmare while on holiday in Edinburgh.

These are but three of the stories in a collection showcasing Alix Ohlin's matchless characterization and raw readability. The reader reaches the end of one story, feels sad to leave its cast behind, yet are buoyed when, mere moments later, they find themselves equally engrossed in the next offering.

Outsiders

Faccini, Ben (ed)

These stories are linked by common themes of belonging, dislocation and identity, and together they take the pulse of a country in turmoil.

In "The Opposite of Death" Roberto Saviano writes about a town in southern Italy haunted by the war in Afghanistan, where one by one its sons are dying. Carlo Lucarelli ("Ferengi") explores the colonial war in Eritrea through the eyes of a maid working for a sick man who begs her to end his suffering. Piero Colaprico's "Grade C" is a breathless Milanese crime thriller in miniature, while Valeria Parrella's "The Prize", set during World War II, reminds us that revenge is a dish best served cold.

Sense and Sensibility

Austen, Jane

'Sense and Sensibility' is a story of the two Dashwood sisters, Elinor and Marianne. Set in southwest England between 1792 and 1797, the novel opens with the death of wealthy Mr Henry Dashwood. The two sisters move to new homes where they experience love and disappointment when they are later abandoned by the young men whom they intended to marry.

Published in 1811, 'Sense and Sensibility' is a reflection of upper and middle-class English society in the early 19th century, and juxtaposes two different ways of thinking - "sense" and "sensitivity". This classic title has been made into a movie and a TV-series.
