Gods of Mischief

Rowe, George

George Rowe tells the harrowing story of the first private citizen to voluntarily infiltrate an outlaw motorcycle gang for the U.S. government. Rowe, drug dealer, brawler, and convicted felon, never thought he'd work for the feds. But when he watched the Vagos brutally and senselessly beat his friend everything changed. He decided to pay back his Southern California hometown by bringing down the gang that terrorised it. Rowe spent three brutal years juggling a double life - riding, fighting, and nearly dying alongside the brothers that he secretly hoped to put away for good. Rowe lost everything: his family, his business, his home - even his identity. To this day, under protection by the U.S. government, Rowe still looks over his shoulder, keeping watch for the brothers he put behind bars.

All the Way Round

Trueman, Stuart

In 2010, Stuart Trueman set out on a 16-month voyage to circumnavigate Australia by kayak. Not the first or even second person to do so, he was determined to make it a triumphant third. Stuart's adventure would be done on a shoestring, with no support team and a powerful belief in the philosophy of Do-It-Yourself. This journey would see him face extraordinary challenges, including the non-stop crossing of mighty 200-kilometre cliff formations, huge seas, sleeping whales, inquisitive sharks, large crocodiles and the relentless grind of paddling around Australia's massive coastline. Experiencing everything from heatstroke in the tropical north to the icy gales of the Southern Ocean, Stuart has written a gripping account that vividly brings to life the coasts of our incredible continent.

Ghost Horse, The

Layden, Joe

'The Ghost Horse' is the true story of a one-eyed, club-footed racehorse and trainer, Tim Snyder, who scraped together every penny he had to purchase the unwanted filly. Snyder helped the horse overcome its deficiencies, eventually naming her in part after his late wife, Lisa, the great love of his life - a sweet-tempered woman whose gentle demeanour seemed eerily reflected in the horse. Snyder, a racetrack lifer was not easily moved by new-age sentiment. And yet in her final days, her body ravaged by cancer, Lisa Snyder reassured her husband with a weak smile.

"It's okay," she'd say. "I'll see you again. I'm coming back as a horse."

Shred: The Revolutionary Diet

Smith, Ian K.

Whether you've dieted and lost weight but can't break through to ditch that last 5 to 10 kilograms, or whether you've never been able to stick to a plan and have more to lose, 'The Shred Revolutionary Diet' holds the key. Ian K. Smith, M.D., best-selling author, Harvard graduate and presidential appointee, has developed the concept of diet confusion. Diet confusion involves varying the amount and type of food consumed each week, across a six-week cycle. The metabolism speeds up and the kilograms drop off, not just in the short-term, but permanently. It's a diet that you can do at home or the road, that you can customise to fit your specific weight-loss goals, and that sets you up for a lifetime of thin! What's more, you get to eat lots and you get to eat often.

Confessions of a Sociopath

Thomas, M. E.

M. e. Thomas is a high-functioning non-criminal sociopath. She is charismatic, ambitious and successful. You would be charmed by her if you met her, might even be seduced by her. You would not realise that she is studying you to find your flaws, that she is ruthlessly manipulative, has no empathy and does not feel guilt or remorse. But she does like people - she likes to touch them, mould them and ruin them. She could be your friend or your boss. She could be you . . . Now she writes with breathtaking honesty about her life, from the confusion of trying to fit in as a child to her growing need for power over others, from her successful stratagems at work and in love to the disasters that brought her greater understanding of herself and the motivation to control her behaviour - most of the time.

Linden, Maya (ed)

In 'Just Between Us', a host of Australia's best-loved female writers bare all on this age-old quandary: Are female friendships all-natural and nurturing? Or are some more damaging than delightful? And most of all, what happens when female relationships go off the rails? And who is to blame?

While falling in and out of romantic love is a well-documented experience, losing a friend rarely gets discussed. Which doesn't mean the pain is less - quite the opposite, as we discover in this extraordinary collection of heartfelt fiction and non-fiction works that put female friendship both in the spotlight.

Hash

Clarkson, Wensley

For millions of people across the world, lighting up a joint is no more controversial than having a cup of tea. But in 'Hash' Wensley Clarkson explores the dark and sinister side of this multi-billion pound business: one fuelled by a brutal underworld network of dealers, drug barons, bent cops and even terrorists. Sex, intimidation, bribery and murder are all employed in a quest for vast profits.

Travelling from the lawless Rif mountains in Morocco to darkened warehouses in Spain, protected by heavily armed gangsters, this is a revelatory roller-coaster ride through the secret world of Hash.

Counting One's Blessings

Shawcross, William

Queen Elizabeth was a prolific correspondent from her earliest childhood and her letters offer readers a vivid insight into the person behind the public face. They reveal - in her own words - the little girl writing to her family; the young woman who, eventually, accepted Prince Albert's proposal; the Duchess of York, embracing the public role demanded of her, on royal tours both at home and abroad. They reveal, too, her shock when she and her husband realized that he would become King, the dreadful toll exacted by the Second World War, culminating in the King's tragically early death, and her determination to find a role for herself during her long widowhood. Full of wit, acute observation and a deeply held sense of duty, Queen Elizabeth's letters offer a chronicle not only of her long life, but of the twentieth century.

Boys in the Boat, The Brown, Daniel James

'The Boys in the Boat' is the story of Joe Rantz, a charismatic young man born dirt poor in the woods of Washington State, who dreams of escaping the challenges of the Great Depression, and a complicated family life full of painful memories.

What follows is an extraordinary journey, as Joe and eight other young men exchange the sweat and graft and dust of ordinary life for the purer rigours of sport at its very highest level - a journey at the end of which lies a gold medal rowing race at the Berlin Olympics of 1936, in front of Hitler himself. Told against the grand backdrop of 1930s America, 'The Boys in the Boat' is a story full of lyricism and unexpected beauty; a story that rises above sport, and even the grand sweep of history itself, in favour of something more personal.

History of the World, A

Marr, Andrew

Our understanding of world history is changing, as new discoveries are made on all the continents and old prejudices are being challenged. In this truly global journey Andrew Marr revisits some of the traditional epic stories, from classical Greece and Rome to the rise of Napoleon, but surrounds them with less familiar material, from Peru to the Ukraine, China to the Caribbean. He looks at cultures that have failed and vanished, as well as the origins of today's superpowers, and finds surprising echoes and parallels across vast distances and epochs.

This is a book about the great change-makers of history and their times, people such as Cleopatra, Genghis Khan, Galileo and Mao, but it is also a book about us.

Predatory Thinking

Trott, Dave

'Predatory Thinking' involves looking at a challenge you can't solve and getting upstream of it - changing it into a challenge you can solve. Written in the form of engaging, brilliantly lean anecdotes and stories, it is the philosophy that has underpinned Dave Trott's distinguished career as a copywriter, creative director, and founder of some of London's most high-profile advertising agencies.

Drawing on eastern and Western philosophy, and colourful characters that range from Second World War fighter pilots to Picasso, Plutarch and Warren Beatty, this book represents the distilled wisdom of a lifetime at the creative cutting edge.

Flappers

Mackrell, Judith

Glamorized, mythologized and demonized - the women of the 1920s prefigured the 1960s in their determination to reinvent the way they lived. 'Flappers' is in part a biography of that restless generation: starting with its first fashionable acts of rebellion just before the Great War, and continuing through to the end of the decade when the Wall Street crash signal led another cataclysmic world change.

It focuses on six women who between them exemplified the range and daring of that generation's spirit. Diana Cooper, Nancy Cunard, Tallulah Bankhead, Zelda Fitzgerald, Josephine Baker and Tamara de Lempicka were far from typical flappers.

Bangkok Hard Time

Cole, Jon

It is 1967 Bangkok, the Summer of Love, and for Jon Cole, son of a US Army Green Beret colonel serving in the Vietnam War, life as a teenage Westerner in the City of Angels is sweeter than mangoes on sticky rice with coconut milk. Drawn to the underbelly of Bangkok, the International School Bangkok student soon discovers ganja, opium dens and two-dollar bordellos.

What follows is a surreal but true story of one Westerner's relationship with Thailand spanning four decades. Introduction to the now infamous House of Lek with schoolmates and GIs on R&R from Vietnam eventually leads to a lucrative career as a drug smuggler, a heavy heroin habit and, ultimately, a long stretch inside Bangkok's notorious prison, the "Bangkok Hilton".
