Family Food*
Pete Evans

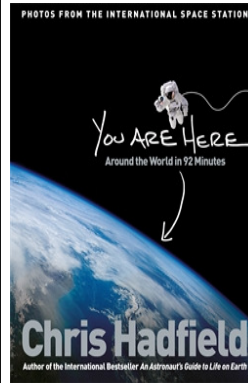

With two children of his own, Pete Evans knows how hard it can be to get a healthy and delicious meal on the table night after night. That's why he's put together his favourite recipes for busy parents and their kids in Family Food. These meals follow Pete's paleo style of eating - no grains, refined sugar or dairy, and a focus on sustainable meat and seafood, nuts and seeds, and loads of fresh veggies. There are heaps of quick, healthy and satisfying dinner ideas: Chicken Drumsticks with Rosemary and Lemon, Ginger and Chilli Fish Stir-fry, Cauliflower Fried Rice with Garlic Prawns, and Easy Pulled Pork Tortillas. There are also specific chapters on baby and toddler food as well as kids' lunches and snacks that you can be sure won't be left in the bottom of the lunchbox: Chicken Pad Thai, Ham and Pineapple Pizza and Homemade Fruit Roll-ups.

You Are Here: Around the World in 92 Minutes*
Chris Hadfield

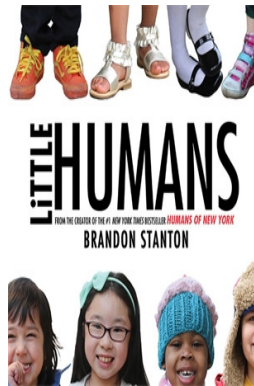

Chris Hadfield's new book shows us our home - our city, country, continent, our whole planet - from a unique perspective. This gorgeous photo book shows us that we caught the beauty, but missed the meaning. Curated from images never before shared, Chris's big picture reveals why our planet looks the way it does and why we live where we do. Chris sees more in these images than we do not just because he's spent months in space but because his in-depth knowledge of geology, geography and meteorology allows him to read the mysteries the photos reveal. Divided by continent, You Are Here represents one (idealized) orbit of the ISS. This planetary photo tour - surprising, playful, thought-provoking and visually delightful - is punctuated with fun, fascinating commentary on life in zero gravity, too.

The Birth of the Pill
Jonathan Eig

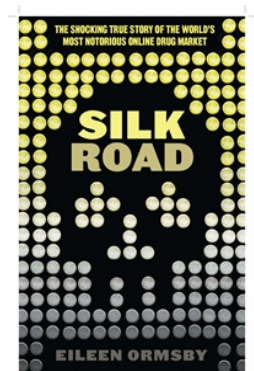

Every morning, more than 100 million women swallow a tiny tablet that needs no name. Since its creation fifty years ago, the birth control pill has resulted in changes more powerful than anyone dreamed. It sparked a sexual revolution, reshaped the global economy, and changed the status of women in society the world over. Some historians consider the pill the most important invention of the 20th century. Yet almost no one knows the story of the peculiar man who invented it. It's a story that has never been fully told - until now.

Silk Road*
Eileen Ormsby

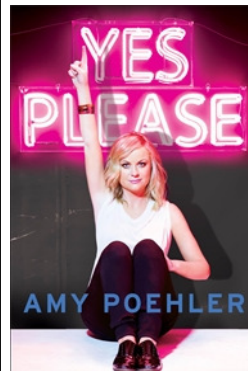

It was the 'eBay of drugs', a billion dollar empire. Behind it was the FBI's Most Wanted Man, a mysterious crime czar dubbed 'Dread Pirate Roberts'. SILK ROAD lay at the heart of the 'Dark Web' - a parallel internet of porn, guns, assassins and drugs. Lots of drugs. With the click of a button LSD, heroin, meth, coke, any illegal drug imaginable, would wing its way by regular post from any dealer to any user in the world. How was this online drug cartel even possible? And who was the mastermind all its low roads led to? This is the incredible true story of Silk Road's rise and fall, told with unparalleled insight into the main players - including alleged founder and kingpin Dread Pirate Roberts himself - by lawyer and investigative journalist Eileen Ormsby. A stunning crime story with a truth that explodes off the page.

Yes Please*
Amy Poehler

Yes Please is Amy's first book. Part intimate memoir, part stand-up routine, part comedy exorcism - this collection of essays drawn from real life (and alternate realities) is juicy, funny, biting, brilliant and wise. It riffs on everything from sex, love, friendship, plastic surgery to parenthood and does so with style and sass. And the title? Well despite being a famously acerbic and anarchic presence on Saturday Night Live for nine years, Amy believes "good manners are the secret key to the universe". Smart, beautiful and seriously cool - Poehler was included on TIME's 100 Most Influential People in the World in 2011 - this is the book of the 2014-15 summer. If you enjoyed Tina Fey's Bossypants, bow at the altar of Caitlin Moran and crave comedy with a twist, you'll love Yes Please.

The Map of Heaven

Dr Eben Alexander

Special in-store date 14th October 2014 In 2012 Dr Eben Alexander published Proof of Heaven, his account of his near-death experience. He was subsequently contacted by a large number of readers: some argued that his story was impossible to believe; but others wrote to share their own journeys to the afterlife or their stories of contact with deceased loved ones. In his new book, Map of Heaven, Dr Alexander draws on these stories, his own extensive research and conversations with prominent scientists, philosophers and religious figures to provide a wide-ranging examination of the meaning of life, the nature of consciousness and the possibility of life after death. Compassionate, accessible and compelling, this book provides comfort, offers hope and reinforces what we all know to be true, whether believers or not: the strength of love is eternal, and our connections live on past death.

The Great Reformer

Austen Ivereigh

A biography of Pope Francis that will describe how this revolutionary thinker will use the power of his position to challenge and redirect one of the world's most formidable religions. An expansive and deeply contextual work, at its heart The Great Reformer is about the intersection of faith and politics—the tension between the pope's innovative vision for the Church and the obstacles he faces in an institution still strongly defined by its conservative past. Based on extensive interviews in Argentina and years of study of the Catholic Church, Ivereigh tells the story not only of Jorge Mario Bergoglio, the remarkable man whose background and total commitment to the discernment of God's will transformed him into Pope Francis—but the story of why the Catholic Church chose him as their leader.

Undeniable

Bill Nye

Sparked by the a provocative comment to BigThink.com last fall, and fueled by a highly controversial debate with Creation Museum curator Ken Ham, Bill Nye's campaign to confront the scientific shortcoming of creationism has exploded in just a few months into a national crusade. In this book, he expands the points he has made, and claims that this debate is not so much about religion versus science, as about the nature of science itself. With infectious enthusiasm, he reveals the mechanics of evolutionary theory, explains how it is rooted in the testable and verifiable scientific method, and why it is therefore a sound explanation of our beginning. He argues passionately that to continue to assert otherwise, to continue to insist that creationism has a place in the science classroom is harmful not only to our children, but to the future of the greater world as well.

My Secret Sister

Helen Edwards and Jenny Lee Smith

Helen grew up in a pit village in Tyneside in the post-war years, with her gran, aunts and uncles living nearby. She felt safe with them, but they could not protect her from her neglectful mother and violent father. Behind closed doors, she suffered years of abuse. Sometimes she talked to an imaginary sister, the only one who understood her pain. Jenny was adopted at six weeks and grew up in Newcastle. An only child, she knew she was loved, and with the support of her parents she went on to become a golfing champion, but still she felt that something was missing. . . . Neither woman knew of the other's existence until, in her fifties, Jenny went looking for her birth family and found her sister Helen. Together they searched for the truth about Jenny's birth - and uncovered a legacy of secrets that overturned everything Helen thought she knew about her family.

The Bite in the Apple

Chrisann Brennan

Steve Jobs was a remarkable man who wanted to unify the world through technology. Chrisann Brennan knows this better than anyone. She met him in high school, at a time when Jobs was passionately aware that there was something much bigger to be had out of life, and that new kinds of revelations were within reach. The Bite in the Apple is the very human tale of Jobs's ascent and the toll it took, told from the author's unique perspective as his first girlfriend, co-parent, friend, and-like many others-object of his cruelty. She talks with passion about an idealistic young man who was driven to change the world, about a young father who denied his own child, and about a man who mistook power for love. Chrisann Brennan's intimate memoir provides the reader with a human dimension to Jobs' myth. Finally, a book that reveals the real Steve Jobs.

Captain's Diary
Michael Clarke

After three straight Ashes series defeats, including a 3-0 loss to England just months before, Australia's cricket team and its captain Michael Clarke faced a monumental challenge to reclaim cricket's ultimate prize during the five home Tests of the 2013-14 summer. Against the odds, Clarke's men triumphed, winning the series 5-0 to 'return the urn'. In his own words, and featuring never-before-seen photos, this is the Captain's Diary of that amazing and historic series - Michael Clarke's riveting behind the scenes account of how a captain-in-crisis and his unfancied team of young rookies, old warriors and reborn champions united that summer to conjure one of the most inspiring redemption stories in sport. Features a foreword by Shane Warne, an afterword by Michael's wife, Kyly Boldy and a special Captain's Dossier, where Michael gives his personal critique (with photos) of all 11 players who contributed to this famous victory. Instore 4/11/14

Australia on Horseback
Cameron Forbes

The first horse set foot in Australia on 30 January 1788, one of seven aboard the First Fleet's Lady Penrhyn. The horses were breeding stock, and in the early days, the people of New South Wales travelled on foot. Then, as horse stocks built up and improved, came the great change. Horses carried explorers, bushrangers, mounted police and soldiers. Horses helped build the nation, marshalling the great flocks and herds, creating its myths. With the era of the warhorse over and the role of the stock horse diminished, horses carry people at play and help the disabled and autistic. As they have since the early days of the colony, they carry our bets and have the power to lift our spirits. Cameron Forbes, author of the acclaimed Hellfire, uses the horse motif to tell the Australian story. Australia on Horseback is a comprehensively researched and beautifully told history of a developing nation and a powerful tribute to the horse - bearer of men, hopes, fears and dreams.

The Places in Between

Rory Stewart

A brilliant account of a death-defying walk through Afghanistan. Rory Stewart's sparsely poetic, and highly acclaimed account of his walk across Afghanistan in January 2002 has been hailed as a modern classic of travel writing. Travelling entirely on foot and following the inaccessible, mountainous route, Stewart was nearly defeated by the hostile conditions. With the help of an unexpected companion and the generosity of the people he met on the way, however, he survived to report back on a region closed to the world by twenty-four years of war.
